Ø a loss of electrons results in a positive ion or cation (pronounced “cat-eye-on”). Ø a gain of electrons results in a negative ion or anion (pronounced “an-eye-on”). although ions and elements have similar chemical symbols, they are entirely different lecture 26: diffusion of ions: part 1: basic understanding ... - lecture 26: diffusion of ions: part 1: basic understanding and the derivation of diffusion flux. today's topics • understanding of the fundamental differences between a solution (solid or liquid) consisting of only neutral species (atoms, molecules) and the one containing ions (i.e., electrically charged atoms or molecules). formulas and nomenclature of ionic and covalent compounds - formulas and nomenclature of ionic and covalent compounds adapted from mcmurry/fay, section 2.10, p. 56 -63 and the 1411 lab manual, p. 27 -31. types of compounds ionic compounds are compounds composed of ions, charged particles that form when an atom (or group of atoms) gains or loses electrons. detection and control of individual trapped ions and ... - detection and control of individual trapped ions and neutral atoms by mark acton a dissertation submitted in partial fulfillment of the requirements for the degree of doctor of philosophy (physics) in the university of michigan 2008 doctoral committee: professor christopher r. monroe, university of maryland, co-chair professor georg a. raithel ... chapter 7: answers to assigned problems hauser-general ... - a group of atoms or ions with the same electron count.
